How Not To Start Third Grade (Step Into Reading)

Synopsis

Will should be excited to start third grade. But his little brother, Steve, is starting kindergarten. The same laugh-out-loud writing and hilarious illustrations that brought us How Not to Babysit Your Brother now portray the tribulations and embarrassments of starting school with a very troublesome little brother. School will never be the same! Cathy Hapka and Ellen Titlebaum are the authors of many books for children. This is their second book about Will and Steve. They live in Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, and New York City, respectively. Debbie Palen has illustrated many books for children, including How Not to Babysit Your Brother and the first four books in the Andrew Lost series. She lives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Customer Reviews

My son ratings

My daughter is in the second grade and this book is perfect for her reading level. The story is very funny.

This set was a little better with more reading material

This is a really cute story about a boy and his little brother. My third graders love it!

Great read for my daughter very humorous and entertaining. Highly recommended for my 3rd grader 30 minute weekly reading homework.

My third grader enjoyed this book! Bought it as a summer read for her to get excited about going back to school :)

love it!

Cute story. A good read for a nighttime book. My second grader liked reading it and my 5 year old enjoyed the story.
