Adam Named The Animals From A To Z (Roma Downey's Little Angels)

Synopsis

From executive producer Roma Downey comes a faith-affirming brand created just for preschoolers. As twins Alex and Zoe are pondering the names of the animals at the zoo, the Little Angels appear and begin to tell the story of the job that God gave to Adam in the Garden of Eden -- to name each animal. Charming illustrations join the text, which names an animal for each letter of the alphabet. This book is great fun -- a biblical story, an alphabet primer, and a romp through the zoo all rolled into one. Ages 2-5.

What a great idea for a series, the books are great and I also love the DVD's. The books are more suited for 3 years and up, my 4 year old loses a little interest sometimes with so many words, and the words could be more basic, but I am not complaining as we need MORE christian content for kids that really connects with them, I know when my daughter is 5 she will love these even more!

My Grandson seems to like it. Thank you -

I purchased this book for my best friend's son. He doesn't like to say the alphabet. This book was adorable and now he can practice his alphabet in a fun way.

my girl loves animals & it's become 1 of her favorites to look at. she's at the age where a-z means she flips quickly from the alligator to the yak & zebra

Great book! My 4 yr old loved it! and thought it was really really cool....he couldnt put it down and brought it with him everywhere

Great book
