Classic Battletech: Historical Brush Wars (FPR35105)

Synopsis

Low Intensity Warfare The Ronin Wars. The Andurien/Magistracy invasion of House Liao. The Anton Revolt and subsequent Marik Civil War. Against the empire-spanning conflicts of the Fourth Succession War, Clan Invasion and FedCom Civil War, historians all too often forget such important conflicts, relegating them to the category of "low intensity warfare." Yet it is these very conflicts that tend to shape the internal politics and culture of each faction, often with more profound impact than the largest wars. The Historical: Brush Wars campaign sourcebook details the actions involving every line unit in the most important "low level conflicts" of the early thirty-first century. Maps and full regiment listings convey additional details, while ample campaign rules provide a framework allowing players to replay every detail of each war.

Customer Reviews

Very in depth and detailed. Lot of back story info on things that were never delved into too deeply prior to this book (especially Anton's revolt). Recommended highly!

Over all this source book wasn't that good. The Authors were trying to be clever with the writing, and it just didn't work. There is just too many miss spellings and grammatical errors, plus the authors have a tendency to not finish a thought and go off on a tangent then sort of come back to the original thought that is latter contradicted in just a few pages.

One of the best Battletech products I've had the pleasure of owning. It helps fill in the gaps from the missing years between the 4th Succession War and the Clan Invasion. I particularly appreciate the section on the Ronin Wars. It was written in a refreshingly creative manner while still presenting useful information that I can use for a campaign I've wanted to do properly even since the 20 Year Update was released.
